Doubling down against the will of Oregon families is NOT going to increase the number of children attending Oregon's failing public school system. As long as legislators try to dictate to parents regarding what is and is not appropriate reading material for their children, you can expect more private home schooling co-ops. The House totally exposed itself when they stopped D.Yunker from reading aloud what is being put in local public school libraries because of its filthy content. He summed it up perfectly, "if it is inappropriate for adults it is inappropriate for children." My 4th grade granddaughter told me that she thinks it's gross that she has to learn about sex in her health class at her age. When asked if she knew how lice and scabbies are transferred to others she didn't even know what they were. Nor has she learned what foods will help or hurt her body. How about teaching those first. There is a lot to be taught regarding the human body besides sex and preferred genders. People are sick of the democratic double standard that caters to the 1% and makes the 90% pay for it. President Trump was elected to bring common sense back to the will of the people. It's only a matter of time until all of the woke ideology is flushed out of government. We the people were born free and we will stay free. We don't need big brother government indoctrinating our kids! It's time to put your ideology away and to teach what children need to grow up to be successful Americans. How to read instructions or write a resume and enough math so they can count the correct change back at their McDonalds job. That's only the bare minimum. They are capable of so much more if they were only given the opportunity. Challenge them and they will rise to do great things.
