I have been homeschooling for 18 years, and the way testing has been handled previously works great! My kids have participated in both group tests and private tests - there is flexibility based on personal students' needs. There is flexibility in timing, location, and tester. The current system is NOT broken, please don't try to fix it. =)

Having testing go through the state is unnecessary, expensive for the tax payers, and is NOT wanted by homeschool families.

We consider paying for testing to be part of the educational costs of homeschooling, and it's not that much in the grand scheme of things. I MUCH prefer being able to get to choose my tester for my students over having to go to a public school to have it done.

Please DO NOT SUPPORT this bill!

Thank you,
Amy Frugia
