SB88

I write today to support SB 88. Oregonians are struggling to pay high gas and electric bills. Some fossil fuel corporations spend large amounts on advertising, lobbying and legal costs to fight law suits and pay fees for failure to meet state environmental standards. Some also use these lobbying and advertising costs to try to influence customers, regulators and government officials to believe that their products are safe for humans and the environment even when they know these things are not true. Let's move these costs to the corporations and perhaps then they will spend less money on deceiving us.
