HB3824

This bill is a trojan horse of scope expansion and places Physical Therapists in a position to perform interventions they're neither educated nor trained on. If manipulation, needle puncture, or immunology was a part of the standard curriculum, this would be a different story. But it's not. Placing the legal ability to perform a service that the schools don't teach is backward and it's only a matter of time before an Oregonian gets hurt.
