I don't know what I can say that hasn't already been determined. This is outdated research. I work for a different hospital and I had a coworker who's partner worked for the Primate Center at OHSU. He said the primates were treated well, I never believed him.

His coworker I remember was on a project at night with the primates and one of them was scalded with hot water while he fell asleep. I heard these things on the news and I am pretty sure this was the same incident. I am pretty sure he was fired but it is still awful. There is not reason for this research, please shut them down.
