I SUPPORT this bill.

The entire world seems to ignore countries using children and adults to mine toxic materials to make EVs, laptops, phones, and solar panels.

We all just want our convenience - here am I - I, too have a laptop and a cellphone, and a kindle. What makes me different? Pretty much nothing other than being educated by many, looking at the lack of safety protocols, the deep pits that destroy the environment. What else might be the difference? The use of refurbished devices.

It's time to recognize that our greedy little hands care nothing for the children to save, we just GOTTA have a new EV, more and more solar panels, a new phone, maybe 2 or 3 pads, 3 screens for better gaming.

Stop killing people by using less, and purchase refurbished items OR consider typing your letters on an old typewriter (I have), and handwriting letters (I have).

Stop turning a blind eye to those who suffer cancers because ya gotta have the latest and greatest, the greenest and most toxic crap. Y'all know it is, y'all don't care, do you?
