I totally disagree with Sen. Manning regarding his comments about personal protection. In 1986 while I was walking from my vehicle to my workplace (1 block) during the hour of 11:00 p.m. Two sketchy men were 10 feet ahead of me. I tried to stay out of their peripheral vision. One caught me in their vision. He pointed and told his partner look. The men turned around and started to charge me. I put my hand in my light jacket pocket and threatened them with a firearm. They stopped and took off running in the opposite direction. The threat of a firearm saved my life and stopped a possible murder. Mine

This bill impedes a woman the right to protect herself.
