I firmly support this piece of legislation. Probationary period is something that is incredibly restrictive on a teacher and a burden on already over burdened shoulders. The pressure, the stress, and the control cause undue worry in someone who has over a hundred children to worry about each and every day. This period is something that goes beyond other professions. We are degreed, we are licensed, we have passed all the checks, and we are under enough scrutiny. We are here for the kids and for bettering society.
