I am opposed to assisted suicide in any form. Life is very precious. I have been a public school teacher for 50 years. I have seen the changes in students throughout those years. The people who I teach want quick solutions and give very little time to think things over. Suffering is not fun and it takes strong character to face it. Suffering does not always mean the end,. Today, determination is not as prevalent as it was before. We need to help people deal with adversity and be resilient. We do not know what the future will bring, we only guess. We need to encourage people to be strong and have a positive attitude. This has been known to bring about healing. Let's encourage people to live. Every second of our life counts.
