Why do we need new taxes to conduct an audit? Why hide new taxes under such an innocuous title? Because you know it's not the will of the people, nor is it in the better interest of the people. If you want to make the argument that we don't know what's good for us - then make the argument! This masking of new taxes under the cover of an audit is dishonest. What purposes do you have for the money? It's certainly not to pay for performance audits of the Dept. of Transportation. A vote in support of this bill is a vote for lying to the public.

'But this is how bills are written, this is how business is done, and Susie Public (aka Tiffany Grantom - me) just doesn't understand'. Then make it make sense. Make the argument, in public. Justify these actions to the voting public instead of hiding what you're doing under deceptive titles about audits. Do you believe this serves the public interest? Or does it serve the interest of your job, your connections, your agenda?
