I heartily oppose these new taxes because Oregonians are already paying too high price for gasoline now. Family members in other states laugh at and pity us over fuel prices. In addition, there are many cars with expired tags. Why not have the police start ticketing those people who are driven "free" while the rest of us are already paying the high price for new tags. I am retiring this year and am considering leaving the state due to the present and potential tax structure.

I oppose all of these new taxes,
