We do not need new taxes , what is needed is less spending, especially for those who can work, but don't, or won't. It is not moral to take from those who work, and earn and give to those who don't. Those whose can't , we should and are morally obliged to help , and I have no problem doing so. Furthermore money's need to go where they were originally intended to go, and not be misdirected. Stop playing games with our lives, and do what is morally and ethically correct for once.
