I'm asking that y'all vote no on this giant cost of basic living taxes, please.

My husband and I were in the middle income tax bracket just 4 short years ago but with the steady rise in basic living costs we have steadily been eating into our meager savings just for the basics. We don't live beyond our means and we own a 37 year old manufactured home and we don't spend frivalously on our credit card. I'm worried this Giant bill will push us over the edge and we don't really have anywhere else to trim our budget.

Thank you for your time.
