Enough is enough. Oregon government and especially ODOT has been on a downward trajectory for decades. There is not enough money in the world that can fix problems that government have no desire to fix. Oregon has become a disappointing example of why more money never fixes problems. When you throw more money at a problem and the problem only gets worse, then you should, at some point, be able to connect the dots and see that lack of funding was never the problem. Oh wait, you already knew that.... and THAT is the real problem.
