HB3402

After the hard work of so many people, after lengthy discussions and bargaining with bad faith actors we find ourselves struggling for scraps. HB2025 was by no means perfect but it was a good faith attempt at making concessions and a fairly good middle ground that would have been a net benefit to all.

I'm sorry you're upset at how much things cost. That's how it is though. You want sprawl? You have to pay for sprawl. The road is expensive!! People need public transportation too. Our poorest citizens rely on it and every person who chooses transit is reducing emissions and making the world a better place. Choosing to not fund transit appropriately is a death sentence for climate. I do not support HB3402 as it does not meet the needs of ALL the people.

Those who opposed HB2025 are petulant whiny rats who have no vision and are simple minded children rolling around in their own excrement. It's sad and pathetic. You're not serious people.
