I OPPOSE HB4098. There are already laws that address unlawful trade practices. This is a bill looking for trouble, and this type of legislation is why Oregon is a sinking ship. Sinking in lawsuits, sinking in high insurance premiums, driving the tax base to other states. I'm not sure what the end goal of this bill is, but it won't be good. California tried this garbage, and repealed it after a decade. It must have been bad for California to admit it was a flop. Oregon must believe they can do it better???
