I do not fully understand what the issue or argument at hand is however I fear for a loss of recreational opportunity.

I can say as someone who routinely comes to mt hood for the snowboarding experience, it is a place of peace and excitement for me. A place of escape from real world troubles. I can't speak for others but I know that many people find solace and adventure on the mountain, in nature, wherever it be, for many different recreational reasons. To take away those liberties, would to rob them of their own peace and happiness. At the same time it is each and every persons responsibility to be responsible and respectful of the land and property of wherever they are and to have common sense when engaging in any recreational activity no matter the risk. I hope that we can find some sort of common ground to allow everyone to engage in the adventure they seek.

Thank you
