Measure, Appointment or Topic: HB4105

This bill would give timber companies the right to sue Forestry.

Although it sounds benign, it actually would threaten the drinking water of half a million Oregonians.

As a state Oregon is known for its outdoor recreation opportunities, for its glorious forests, for its wildlife.

This bill would destroy habitat and endanger salmon and other key species.

Our forests are a carbon sink. We are in the fight of our lives against the effects of fossil fuels on our climate.

This bill would give fossil fuels the upper hand in that fight.

I strongly oppose HB 4105.
