HB4148

With the continuous increase in costs, businesses are struggling to keep their heads above water, to stay profitable. Tourism is a boon to these businesses and cities, counties, towns are encouraging tourism. Unfortunately, there are costs associated with tourism - costs dealing with roads, water, sewer, etc. Basically, increased tourism contributes to the drain on infrastructure. Allowing use of transient lodging tax revenue for these infrastructure costs will help cities to better promote tourism and to actually function with the increased numbers.
