There isn't any reason that the harvesting of trees can't be looked at it realistic. The state took care of itself til they started listening to outsiders who don't live and work here. We have legislators who have no idea how to budget and yet are reluctant to look at alternatives other than tax those who hang on by a thread. You think tourists will support the state? Why come here when the parks are closed the streets are filthy, nothing that will interest people who want to be entertained while on vacation.
