

As a part of the Portland community and the great state of Oregon, and someone who calls many teachers friends and family, I support the notion that fertility services and treatment should be covered for our educators. The daily struggles are all too palpable and this would remove uncertainty and financial burden for some of the most underpaid yet essential members of our workforce.

Thank you,
Michael