I oppose moving the date. I understand that no one in Oregon politics cares what the people want. There has to be a time in the past when you first started that you thought you were doing this because you wanted to help people or help the state I don't know how long ago that was when it changed to just watching power and money, but hopefully at some point you grow a conscience and will let the people vote when it comes to spending their money. Moving this vote is purely politics has nothing to do with fairness. There's no reason to do it.
