Everyone in our family opposes this tax. The Republican proposal preserves essential services without additional funding. But the Democrats and the governor ignored it which shows us that this tax not necessary and is therefore, punitive. Now this bill to move the tax referral to the May primary ballot when fewer voters cast ballots is further proof that the Democrat's intent is to fleece the taxpayers.

In light of the massive government fraud currently being exposed by the Senate hearings in Washington, D.C., it would behoove politicians to heed the voters who have had enough of their pockets being picked. So just stop. We're tired of our government not working for the taxpayers.
