This is plainly a political act. The arguments presented by political actors at a state level. The issue comes down to several facts. Number 1. The argumentation by the party in favor suggests that this will allow for a special session and a repair of ODOTs budget. This is a false made up in order to detract from negative factors surrounding the general election and is purely political. The idea of a special session that is political impossible between now and the general election in november disproves the opposition argument. They are not going to either hold any special session nor will this change have any affect that is non political. There is no perceivable argument to move this to May.

This is an insult to the public who have demanded this bill be on the NOVEMBER ballot. This is advertised in the very campaign associated in getting this issue on the ballot in the first place. Stop playing politics in the face of overwhelming support by the citizens of your state.
