SB1586

From the water usage, the energy burden, the nitrate pollution, and for the overall health of our communities I think it would be irresponsible to build these data centers without overwhelming community approval and votes. From the utilities bill, to your score of health the pros do not outweigh the cons. There are is not enough job creation or positive community development to contrast the strain these buildings will have on their respective communities. The only winners here are the large corporations that buy these local politicians or city council's to line their pockets. They are profiting off of harming the nature and bodies of our great state and that shouldn't be taken lightly or happen without push back.
