Greetings

Support Vaccinations for all. I believe in allowing the experts in a field to do their work and present their finding in manner consistent with the scientific method. Why for instance would I ask my mechanic to perform dental work, or allow a lawyer to give advice on vaccines. As such I present the following linked paper from Sweden titled "Herd effect of human papillomavirus vaccination on incidence of high-grade cervical lesions: a population-based cohort study in Sweden". The paper links to an additional 30 papers that were used as reference in this study, all by scientist and virologists that study and understand viruses. Ask yourself this question, do you understand viruses and virology?
