Since EA's are America's Tax Experts, no other license has such extensive testing on tax, yes we should be exempt from Oregon testing. CPA's are not tested as heavily and they are exempt! They go through a board.

I have been licensed as an EA since 2003, a consultant for Oregon since 98 I believe. And I was not put on the website as a valid preparer. Oregon has had testing, but has never acknowledged EA's who have far more testing than any tax professional! We're only 30 years behind!
