Look, this coming together of otherwise disparate groups - nonprofits, small rec providers, gyms, ski areas, and cities of all sizes - is cute and all, but we need to think about the only group of people who don't want reform, the trial attorneys. These are the real Oregonians. I mean, imagine what will happen if they can't pay for their billboards on 26 to attract the hordes of injured recreationists? Where will they come up with the money for their Portland Golf Club membership? That tacky Italianesque villa in Cabo? The Aspen ski trip will be cancelled! (on second thought, they'd have to sign a binding waiver in Colorado). How on earth will they be able to afford the six figure annual contributions they make collectively to a few heroic lawmakers?

Please have a heart. Support 1517 as written, and provide the additional legal tools needed for these humble servants of the greater good.
